

Accessing the ACGME-I Faculty Survey

Review the information below to access the ACGME-I Faculty Survey during the assigned administration period. Programs are responsible for notifying and reminding faculty members that they are scheduled to participate in this survey. ACGME-I does not notify faculty members directly.

- Access this survey through a secure, direct link sent via email.
 - Programs are responsible for sending notification emails to their survey takers about their participation in this survey. These emails will come from DoNotReply@acgme.org and will contain a secure link to each faculty member's individual survey.
 - The survey can be accessed on a mobile device or computer. ACGME-I data systems support updated versions of the following internet browsers: Firefox; Chrome; Safari; and Microsoft Edge.
 - To receive an email reminder at any time during the survey administration period, use the Request Survey Reminder feature. Survey takers will be prompted to enter the email address used within their current program and their program's 10-digit ACGME-I program code.
 - Faculty members that participate in multiple programs will receive an email for each program, as the survey inquires about experiences within the individual training program.
- All deadlines are final.
 - Access to the survey will close when the deadline has passed. No submissions will be accepted after the survey window closes.
- Questions about the ACGME-I Faculty Survey?
 - Email questions to FacSurvey@acgme.org.